

Pyromation Remains Open for Customers

As our federal and state governments take precautionary measures to respond to the COVID-19 health emergency, Pyromation continues to do its part as an essential business during this crisis.

Pyromation has been designated by the state of Indiana as an essential business. We will remain open and fully-operational to accept, produce and ship all orders for our customers, many of which are part of the "Critical Infrastructure" of this country, as defined by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. We are also continuing to ship rush or expedited orders per requests. We are closely watching the situation and will communicate any changes that impact our status.

Pyromation's temperature sensors are used in pharmaceutical, food & beverage, power generation, chemical, oil & gas and other applications that are essential in the operations of government, health care systems and basic functions of our communities.

Important:

It is important to communicate to us the operating status of your organization if you are placing orders for delivery to your location, or if you have orders to be shipped to locations that may be shut down. Unless we've received prior notification, freight charges for shipments returned to Pyromation because of special hours or closures at the delivery destination will be the responsibility of the those placing the order.
